On account of Professor Reid's address on Education, in the Hall of the House of Representatives, this evening, the Governor's House will not be open as usual. This is right. We hope to see a large assembly on this evening. Professor Reid is well qualified to make the theme of Education one of thrilling interest. Come out, Representatives, Senators, and fellow-citizens.

France.

The latest intelligence from France would seem to indicate that Louis Napoleon, with the aid and support of the army, and with the countenance and sympathy of the Russian Government, will succeed in nullifying the Constitution and placing himself in the Presidency for ten years, preparatory, no doubt, to the next and final step of his ambition, to be the Emperor, as his distinguished kinsman was. The French people have been insulted and deceived by this traitor to liberty. Since his interference, to put down the efforts for popular liberty in Italy, we have had no confidence in the man. His own selfish ends, and not the glory of the Republic or the happiness of the people, have been his aim.

The French people are, to be sure, a light, versatile population; but among the most enlightened have always been found noble advocates of freedom. They have never had a chance to test their ability for self-government. Crushed to the earth by the tyrant's power, they have, under the dread of the guillotine and the sword, submitted to the tyrant's will. Taxed to sustain a regal government, and to support a standing army, who, with fixed bayonets, are always ready to fight either for freedom or despotism, according to the pay or the caprice of the moment. The Bourbons went down and the House of Orleans rose. In turn it fell, and a branch of the Corsican power was elevated to the Presidency, but the liberties of the people have never been secured. There is no free Press to thunder forth its fulminations against the giant arm of the oppressor, and the people have remained in ignorance, the mere toys and playthings of the tyrant's will. But that light which is now illuminating the world, will yet dispel the mist, and lay bare to the eyes of the people the purposes and designs of their betrayers. God grant that the day and hour may soon come, and this move of Louis Napoleon may be the very clarion sound which shall call forth the people of oppressed Europe to the conflict for freedom. The times are ominous, and each arrival from Europe will be looked for with intense interest.

The Weather.

Has again moderated, and presents the favorable appearance of a general break up. Wet and warm weather during this season of the year makes bad roads and unpleasant travelling. Cold weather, or at least cold in moderation, is much the most pleasant and agreeable. But the suspension of navigation at this season of the year amounts almost to a suspension of business. The dry weather during the months of October and November, caused a suspension of navigation on the Ohio. The produce was dammed up in the warehouses and purchasers could not realize returns until the produce was shipped. A very small portion of the wheat and flour, and scarcely any of the pork and lard purchased had been shipped when the Ohio and Mississippi rivers were closed by ice. Dealers could not draw on their produce and provisions in the warehouses, because of the uncertainty when they could be sent forward to the market. This has made money unusually stringent, and a few weeks more of suspension would be attended with disastrous consequences; but from present appearances the river will soon be free from ice, and navigation resumed with all the advantages of activity in business. The late extremely cold weather has furnished a rich harvest of ice, and all the houses in the country have been filled with this glorious luxury for a hot summer day, and a little warm and pleasant weather will now be very acceptable.

It is not perhaps generally known that we have in our city a large Botanical Drug Store and Laboratory. But such is the case. Messrs. J. P. Pope & Co., opened such an establishment early last fall, and their business has increased very rapidly ever since, so much so, that they have enlarged and fitted up their establishment in fine style. Botanical Physicians, Druggists, and others interested, will find it to their interest to send their orders to this establishment, for we are assured that they are very prompt and give satisfaction to their customers. This firm intend to engage largely in the manufacture and compounding of medicines from the roots and herbs with which this country is so bountifully supplied, and it is their intention to supply the Eastern markets with all the medicines of that class which they may desire. By their advertisement, which will be found in another column, it will be seen that they also keep a good supply of garden and other seeds.

In publishing the proceedings of the Vanderburgh Democratic meeting, we omitted the names of the Delegates. This we shall be compelled to do in all instances, indeed we should not have published the resolutions submitted by Judge Law, but for the fact that they were somewhat new and original. The resolutions of most of these meetings are very common place, and in many instances are mere copies of resolutions which have been adopted and re-adopted by other meetings.

The new building, opposite Masonic Hall, is nearly completed. Indeed, one of the store-rooms is already occupied by Mr. Benjamin Pottinger, Hardware Merchant, who has made large additions to his establishment. By his advertisement.

Mr. Winger, the proprietor of the Dissolving Views, which were exhibited at Lafayette a short time since, is in the city. We understand he has engaged Masonic Hall, where he will exhibit his paintings on Wednesday and on each succeeding evening during the week.

On the 11th inst., Mr. Wiastandley, from the committee on finance, made a report against amending the assessment law so as to dispense with a written schedule of property, which was concurred in.

On the 12th, Mr. McCarty offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the committee on affairs of Indianapolis to memorialize Congress to contribute funds towards erecting a building on the Governor's Circle for the use of the United States Courts, &c.

On the 13th, Mr. Athol, from the committee on education, made a report unfavorable to the establishment of township school libraries, which was concurred in.

On the 15th, Mr. Miller offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the committee on roads to revise the present road laws, and introduce a general road law for the government of all public highways as well as private roads laid out and established by public authority.

Mr. Reid, on the same day, offered a resolution, which was adopted, instructing the committee on elections to examine the present election laws, and to report a bill for the government of State, county and township elections, in conformity with the requirements of the present Constitution.

On the same day, on motion of Mr. Emerson, a resolution was adopted, by a vote of 26 yeas to 16 noes, instructing the committee on finance to report a bill providing for the amendment of personal property by township assessors instead of county assessors. This is considered a lost vote on the question of township assessors.

On the same day, the resolution previously introduced by Mr. Hanson to divide the State for the election of five Supreme Judges, was taken up, amended so as to provide for the election of three Judges only, and passed by a vote of yeas 22, noes 12.

On the same day, the bill to allow landlords to distrain for rent where the rent is paid in kind, was indefinitely postponed by a vote of 22 yeas to 20 noes.

On the 19th, Mr. Reid, from the committee on constitutional questions, made a report, which was concurred in, that the General Assembly has no power to amend, by special act, any private charter or corporation; but that the Legislature has the power to modify or repeal all municipal incorporations, and that the same may be amended by special law so as to modify or make the charter of the municipality then under amendment, conform to the Constitution, but not to extend its powers or enlarge its privileges.

On the 20th, Mr. Logan, from the judiciary committee, reported that it is inexpedient to legislate upon the subject of changing the apportionment for the next five years, which was concurred in.

Mr. Dunn also reported it inexpedient to allow a higher rate of interest than six per cent. on money loaned by others than banks or other incorporated companies, and the Senate concurred.

On the 23d, Mr. Emerson, from the committee on pleading and practice, reported that legislation on the subject of the abolition of capital punishment is unnecessary and inexpedient; which was concurred in.

On the 24th, Mr. Milliken introduced a resolution instructing the committee on finance to bring in a bill to make an annual appropriation of $5,000 for colonization purposes. As there was barely a quorum of the Senators present, on the suggestion of Mr. Mickle, the resolution was laid on the table for the purpose of being brought up again when the Senate should be full, in order to have as full an expression, by senators, on the subject as possible.

On Monday morning the 29th, the Senate met, but as there were but fifteen senators present, an adjournment was moved till the next morning.

A joint resolution instructing our Senators and requesting our Representatives in Congress to use their influence in procuring a modification of the post office law, so that transient newspapers can be transmitted through the mail without pre-payment; were introduced and read the first time.

Several bills have been introduced into the House, which were rejected; among others were the following:

A bill requiring county Recorders to subscribe for and preserve one copy of each newspaper printed in their respective counties.

A bill to amend the assessment law of 1851.

A bill for the relief of Sarah Saran.

A bill to allow Clerks of Circuit Courts to take acknowledgment of deeds in certain cases.

Among the large number of resolutions of inquiry offered in the House, but few of them can be taken as an indication of the views of the majority of the members, who permit them to pass. We think, however, there has been several votes taken on resolutions which settle, almost beyond doubt, the views of a majority of House, on the questions to which they relate. The resolution submitted by Mr. Behm, instructing the committee on Banks to report a general free banking law, was certainly a test vote, and showed conclusively that a majority of the members of the House are opposed to a system of free banking, yet it is no evidence that the House will oppose any system of banking that may be submitted.

The resolution, known as Mr. Owen's resolution on descents, &c., was after some discussion referred to the committee on the Judiciary with instructions to report a bill if they deem it necessary.

The House has settled definitely upon Township Assessors to assess personal property. Upon this question the members were very nearly equally divided; and at the time the resolution was submitted by Mr. Buskirk, it was stated that the committee on Ways and Means desired to know the feelings of a majority of the members.

A number of resolutions have been submitted to the House, inquiring into the propriety of allowing persons to deduct the aggregate amount of their indebtedness, from the value of their personal property subject to taxation, some of which have passed and others rejected.

Mr. Spencer submitted one a few days since, instructing the committee on Ways and Means to report a bill allowing persons to deduct the amount of their indebtedness to individuals in this State, from the value of their personal property subject to taxation, which was rejected or rather laid on the table by a pretty decisive vote.

Resolutions making railroads, plankroads, &c., pay taxes for county, school and road purposes, in the different counties through which they extend, according to the value of the roads in such counties, have been voted down several times. Mr. English offered an amendment, containing this principle to the assessment bill which was rejected.

Numerous resolutions have been submitted by different members inquiring into the propriety of abolishing the grand jury system, all of which have been referred to the committee on the Organization of the Courts of Justice.

Mr. Stuart, chairman of the committee, a few days since made a very able report, in favor of the grand jury system, but recommended a reduction of the number to six, to be selected from the Justices of the Peace of the respective counties.

A great number of resolutions of inquiry have been referred to the appropriate committees, in both Houses which contain the views of different individual members on the subject upon which legislative action will be required during the present session. The mere reference of these resolutions is by no means evidence that the bills, when reported, will contain the principles set forth in the different resolutions.

J. A. D. Orr & Co. have removed their store from Masonic Hall, to the store-room on the corner of Meridian and Washington streets, recently occupied by Benj. Pottage. We notice from our window that any number of Ladies visit their store, daily, to examine their stock of fine Dress Goods, &c, which they sell as cheap as the cheapest.

Washington Correspondence.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 22, 1851.

The passage of the Kossuth resolutions, and the prospect of an early visit from the great hero and orator, is the subject of conversation in all circles. The Administration, in relation to his demands, seem to play shy. They will neither affirm or disaffirm his policy.

The bold ground taken by Cass and Douglas in the Senate, has made for them hosts of friends. Buchanan, who is looking for the Southern vote, you will observe, has written no letters to the Kossuth Committees. On this subject he has not opened his mouth. From present appearances I think Cass will carry Pennsylvania in the election, but with such bitterness of feeling between the contending parties that neither of them can carry the State. The Democracy of New York manifest disposition again to unite, but I think the Barnburners will not, in any contingency, go for Cass. They would go for Marcy or Douglas, although it is understood that the Van Burens and Butlers are for Gen. W. O. Butler, of Kentucky. It seems to be admitted by all, that should Douglas receive the nomination, he would make a much stronger race than either Cass, Buchanan or Butler.

The same is perhaps true of Gen. Lane, of your State, although at present not much is said about him and West. The tactics of the New York Barnburners, who defeated Cass in the last election, headed by the Van Burens, Benton and Blair, is to bring out a candidate in each State, and then manage to fall on their strongest man in opposition to either Cass or Douglas, after the Convention meets. This game is being played in Ohio with Allen, in New York with Marcy and in New Hampshire with Pierce. This division is the only thing which can possibly endanger the election of a Democrat in the next contest. The South are divided between Houston, Buchanan, Douglas and Butler, with each the largest portion in favor of Buchanan. Buck is an able man, and if there was only a statute of limitation in politics, so that all his speeches which were made whilst he was a federalist could be barred, he would make an excellent candidate. He comes from a glorious old State that deserves much of the Democracy. We must have some man, against whom no portion of our friends have been committed. Cass, perhaps, could afford to lose both New York and Pennsylvania, and gain in the South.

With Douglas or Lane we should be certain. The time for holding the Convention will soon be arranged. I think Baltimore will be the place, and about the first of June the time.

Remarks of Mr. Douglas, of Illinois,

On the Resolution of Mr. EDWARD, of welcome to Kossuth, delivered in the Senate, Thursday, December 11, 1851.

[REVISED BY HIMSELF.]

Mr. President, I shall not long detain the Senate.

I regret that this resolution has been introduced, not because I do not cordially unite with all my sympathies in the proposed measures for the reception of Governor Kossuth, but for the reason that it could not pass this body unanimously. A resolution to give such a reception as has been proposed should pass with entire unanimity; for its discussion and a divided vote deprive it of its chief merit. I would not have brought forward the resolution for the simple reason that I have yet to learn that the man lives, or ever did live, that could make a proposition in this body that would not give rise to discussion. It has been objected to this resolution, sir, that its passage would give offence to the principal powers of Europe. I have heard this objection raised in relation to so many matters of legislation that I have become heartily tired of it. I do not deem it material whether the reception of Governor Kossuth will give offence to the crowned heads of Europe, provided it does not violate the laws of nations, and give just cause of offence. The question with me is, not whether it is agreeable to the despotic powers of Europe; for I will know that they will not be pleased with any action of this Republic which gives encouragement to European movements favorable to liberal institutions.

The question, therefore, is not whether they will be pleased or displeased, but whether the adoption of such a resolution gives just cause of offence, according to the law of nations. Sir, I know of no principle of the law of nations that deprives a republic of the right of expressing its cordial sympathy in all movements tending to the establishment of free principles throughout the world. I am told that it is our duty to demonstrate our heartfelt sympathy and profound admiration, by every act which is appropriate to the occasion and to the subject matter. It is due to our own character, in vindication of the history of our revolutionary struggle, which resulted in the establishment of republican institutions upon this continent.
